MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

New York Experiences the Dullest Day in Three Weeks, but Prices Are Slightly Retter. NEW YORK, July 20 .- Money on call was easy at 119 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 426 per cent. Sterling exchange was dull but steady at $4.86% for sixty-day bills, and $4.884 for demand. The total sales of stocks to-day were 44,101 shares, including the following: Delaware, Lackswanns & Western, 1,930; Norfolk & Western preferred, 1,216; Northern Pacific, preferred, 1,500; Reading, 2,400; Richmond & West Point, 7,250; Et. Paul, 3,310; Union Pacific, 1,200; Western Union, 2,125.

The stock market to-day was the dullest that has been seen for the past three weeks, and though there was a firm tone during most of the session, the final changes are for insignificant fractions in the great majority of stocks. There was no interest in the trading whatever outside of a few specialties, and the fluctuations reflected the operations of the traders only. Richmond & West Point was the feature of the day, but while the common was active it advanced but a small fraction with the rest of the list, while the preferred was unusually strong, and, opening at 71%. it rose to 74 and closed at 73%. Wheeling & Lake Erie was another stock prominent for its unusual movement on a dull market, and opening at 5338 advanced to 5519, and closed at 55. Cotton Oil monopolized considerable attention, but its movements were comparatively slight, as were also those in St. Paul. The prices at the opening were from 18 to 19 per cent. above those of last evening, and the general list rose from 18 to 38 per cent. further, but after 11 o'clock the list developed a declining tendency, but the changes were en-tirely insignificant, and the close, while harely steady, was still fractions better than the opening figures.
of 24 per cent., and Wheeling & Lake Eric preferred of 138, but the other changes are for small fractions

The railroad bond market was second only to the there list in stagnation to-day, though the sale of all sues amounted to $511.000. There was no animation anywhere in the list, however, and no movement except in Richmond & West Point trust sixes, which rose 1's, to 97%, and Green Bay incomes, which rose 1, to 39. Closing quotations were:

CHICAGO, July 21 .- Trading in wheat to-day was lighter than for any previous day of the week. Hutchinson was a seller early, merely as an obstruc-tion, as he made no effort to dispose of any large amount of wheat. There was some buying for for-eign account. which gave a "bullish" tone to the market. The cash wheat here was held on to, and July sold at 3 ge premium. There was much specu-lation regarding the wheat for export at New York. It is generally believed that while clearances for this week are light, the new business reported will give large clearances next week. The movement of new wheat makes it almost certain that St. Louis new wheat makes it almost certain that St. Louis will report very large receipts for a few days. The action in August was at 80c and 80½c; September ranged between 79½c and 79½c. Closing prices were: August, 80¾c; September, 79¾c. Corn was slightly heavy early, because of the large receipts. Then there were reports of still larger receipts next week, and when the holders of "long" corn offered it, the "snorts" first turned in and helped decline the market, and later they bought all the "longs" cared to sell. August started at 47¼c, sold down to 46¾c, then back to 47c, and down again to 46¾c, closing at 46%c, or ½c under last night. Cash corn was strong and at a premium over August. In oats the transactions and at a premium over August. In oats the transactions in future deliveries were fairly liberal early, with considerable done in the way of covering July "shorts," and fair sales of August and September were made, though longer deliveries were quiet. Late in the session the trade became of a quieter order all round. Considerable strength in near futures was shown from the start, and July delivery ranged fully le higher, while August improved 4c, with afterwards a reaction and a quiet closing. Deferred deliveries did not participate in the fluctuations. The provision market was the reverse of yesterday, being dull and weaser. Prices for hogs declined 5 and 10c, and "shorts." who have been the chief buyers of product of late, held off. A good many have covered, and those who are unable showed no uneasiness about their outstanding contracts. Offerings were a trifle larger, but not enough to cause decided weakness, but closing sales recorded a net decline of 5c on pork, .05c on lard, and .0712c on short ribs. INDIANAPOLIS MARKETS. A Fair Trade in Progress for Mid-Summer with Firm Prices.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 21. In nearly all departments merchants speak of trade as being very satisfactory for mid-summer, and with this on nearly all lines of goods firm prices are the leading characteristic. Dry goods men report retail merchants inspecting fall goods, and making liberal purchases, as no risk is run, so firm is the tone to prices. Dealers in fancy goods and notions report trade improving. Hardware men are still doing a big business, and the firm tone to prices enables them to sell goods at some profit, although competition is still very sharp. Iron men have a dull trade, with prices somewhat unsettled, but tending higher rather than lower. Leather dealers speak of trade as being good for July. The hide men are taking matters easy. hoping that the time may come when there will be some bright spots in that market. East there is more activity, but prices do not improve. Grocers have been doing an excellent business the last few days for this season of the year. Sugars are very firm at the recent advances, which amount to 1's cent per pound in the last thirty days. A great scarcity of refined sugars is reported. Coffees are slightly firmer than a week ago. The future of the market is still a problem, but it is highly probable that, with the new crep coming on to the market, prices will weaken.

The new crop year starts in under very different conditions from those that existed a year ago, and these will be potent factors in shaping the course of trade during the next twelve months. The most reliable estimates foreshadow a crop in Brazil that will be phenomenal in its proportions, and bids fair to exceed the product of any previous year, but this abundance will come upon markets that have literally run dry, and are in a position te develop large absorbing qualities, so that the present crop, with all its promise of abundance, may prove no more than enough to supply the requirements of actual consumption and replenish the depleted stocks of Europe and the United States. The produce markets are very active. Potatoes, cabbage, onions and in fact all description of vegetables of home production are now description of vegetables of home production are now coming on to the market and prices are breaking badly. Eggs. butter and poultry steady at quotations; receipts fair. Peaches are in abundant supply, and some really good fruit sold to-day as low as 60 cents per box. Berries of all descriptions are scarce and higher. Apples are becoming plenty at $1.50 to $2 per barrel; the latter figure will purchase some choice fruit. Pears are coming in freely. Tomatoes are becoming more plenty; prices weakening. The other markets present no new features. GRAIN. There was a good demand on 'Change for Saturday and bidding was quite spirited. Wheat decidedly firmer, receipts falling below the demand. Corn moderately active, prices ranging about the same as on Friday. Oats dull and but little inquiry except for home consumption. Track bids to-day ruled as fol-No. 3 red..... Old No. 3 Red..... Rejected. Unmerchantable..., July... August..... September..... Plum Trees in the Poultry Yard. Philadelphia Record.

The plum is almost unknown on some fruit farms, having been driven out of existence by the curculio, yet it is considered one of the most delicious fruits grown in this latitude. The most successful plum-growers are those who combine poultry-raising (plum trees in the poultry yards) with fruit-growing. The peach has been found to thrive better in a poultry yard than anywhere else, and with changeable yards, so as to remove the heas when occasion demands, the strawberry gives excellent results when the poultry yard is given up to it. But the greatest advantage is secured when plum trees are planted in the yards, as they thrive and do well, while the labor of preventing the attacks of the curculio is greatly lessened by the aid of the fowls. There are two profits derived on a small space, and at the same time the labor is no greater, while the soil is increased in fertility. The plan is to have the fowls divided into flocks of twenty-five, with two yards to each flock, so as to permit of changing the bens from one yard to another, as occasion demands, the object being to permit of spading the yards, thus turning under the manure, and also to grow some kind of early-maturing green food, such as mustard, radish, etc., thereby re-ducing the cost of food, as well as securing a larger supply of eggs, experience teaching that fowls do not thrive as well on au exclusive diet of grain as when given grain at night with green or bulky food during the day. The frequent changing of the fowls from one yard to another also prevents cholera, gapes in chicks and other diseases induced by filthy yards. The plum trees supply shade to the fowls in summer, and as they will resort to the trees for shade and to hunt for insects, they protect the trees from damage. The jarring of the trees in order to cause the eurculio to fall is still practiced, but the hens destroy them as soon as they reach the ground. On one poultry farm, near Lancaster, Mass., where 8,000 fowls have occasionally been kept, all the vards contain plum trees, and the owner reports that he has no difficulty in securing good crops, while other trees, not in the poultry yards, bear nothing. Of the varieties of plums that will bear under these conditions may be mentioned the well-known damson, gage, Lombard and wild goose, which are, however, subject to rot in unfavorable seasons. But little attention is necessary for the trees other than jarring them, as the hens keep the weeds down.

Trapping the Cutworms.

Prof. A. J. Cook, in Farmers' Advocate. The best way to manage the cutworm evil is to examine the ground as it is freshly plowed and see if it is peopled by these worms; if so, just as the corn is coming up drive through the field with a load of green grass, throwing forkfuls thickly over the field. The next morning numerous cutworms will be found under the grass, and may be killed. A better way is to poison the bunches of grass by spraying them with a dilute mixture of London purple and water, one pound to 100 gallons. Then we need pay no more heed to the matter after the grass is scattered. The cutworms will eat the poison with the grass and die and the corn will grow undisturbed.

Four Lives Lost by Drowning.

BROOKFIELD, Mass., July 21.-W. B. Jones. his wife, daughter and two grandchildren rowed upon Podunk pond this afternoon. One of the children fell in the water, the father plunged for it, those left in the boat in a fright upset it and all were drowned save Jones. The bodies were recovered.

Some of the most instructive aids in sewing lessons are the small doylies, tidies or sideboard cloths which come ready stamped with Kate Greenaway figures. The child will find the simple etching stitch very easy to learn and in watching the design grow under her busy fingers will acquire a taste for the beautiful and become at the same time a very useful little member in the family. The old saying, "Never too old to learn," might be reversed with happy results if the mothers have the patience to make the at-
